A Note of Thanks

I am truly humbled with the honor of being included in the Larry Frazer W4SUS Award recipient list. First, the ROOA certificate came; then a week later the W4SUS Award certificate; then yesterday the Bencher W4SUS Golden Paddle. I am in shock and thank the awards committee.

After being a Hit & Bouncer for a little more than a year, I feel truly honored to be included with a fine array of FB operators in receiving this award. I am and will be using the beautiful Bencher Paddles throughout the 3 months. I normally use a Bencher, so no break-in time was needed.

My best to all the fine Ops that take part in this daily ritual.

73/88 Henry Koenig, WD8Q, Lucas, OH

A graveside service was held on April 30 at Cedar Grove United Methodist Church Cemetery, and military rites were rendered by the Rutherford County Veterans Council Honor Guard.

Memorials may be made to Hospice of Rutherford County, PO Box 336, Forest City, NC, 28043.

Comments from K4OI, Woody, AB's good friend:

The rain subsided just before noon so by the time visitation ended we were able to proceed to the church's graveyard without any liquid sunshine. It was a wonderful graveside service. Just the way A.B. wanted, 'short and to the point'.

Some of you might not be aware that AB was a recovering alcoholic for more than 20 years. It was with his acceptance of Christ that he overcame the addictions to alcohol and tobacco. He then attended a local community college and earned an A.A. degree in Mental Health and became a Drug Abuse Counselor for the State of NC. He also helped establish a half-way house in the county.

The family asked me to 'say a few words' if I could. I have included what I tried to say.

The Veteran Honor Guard performed a gun salute and played taps. We were able to broadcast this portion on a local UHF repeater so some of those who could not attend might be able to share in the moment.

A number of Hams attended the funeral. One mentioned to me that there was an amateur license plate there from FL. If that is so, I regret I did not get to meet them. Does anyone know who it might be?

Following is the eulogy by Woody, K4OI:

AB I will remember you...

AB, I will remember you and the hobby that brought us together.

I will remember all the hours of studying and testing that you so tactfully nudged me into enduring.

I will remember the fun and satisfaction we shared when we installed a new antenna or hooked up a new radio.

I will remember the joy we shared when our efforts proved successful and also remember a few silly mistakes.

AB, I will remember that I have never heard anyone utter a single word against you.

And I don't remember you uttering a single word against anyone else, with maybe the exception of politicians. And that reminds me ...

AB, I will remember you when I walk into a voting booth and will be saddened because I know there is one less Democrat voting that day.

AB, I will remember you and your years of devotion in service to our country.

AB, I will remember you when I need advice, your ability to calmly assess most any situation with simple common sense.

AB, I will remember you and your drive for perfection and your intolerance with anything less than your best.

AB, I will remember you and your pride, because it was a pride that lifted the chin, not the nose.

AB, I will remember you and how you overcame the demons of your life, and then turned to help those whose shoes you had walked in.

AB, I will remember you and the sheer joy of sharing and giving, for you have been there for so many in so many different ways.

AB, I will remember you and your determination, endurance, optimism and the dignity of how you have fought your illness.

But most of all AB, I will remember you called me Friend.

So until the day we are reunited, AB I will remember you, and this:

No happy time that passes is ever really gone, if it leaves a lovely memory for looking back upon.

At this moment I cling to a scripture: Romans 8:26 '... For we don't even know what we should pray for, nor how we should pray. But the Holy Spirit prays for us with groanings that cannot be expressed in words'.

I am honored to have known A B. The last time I saw him was at the luncheon at Shelby, NC, and as usual, he had a big smile on his face. I never saw AB without that smile. We have lost a wonderful person and an A-1 traffic handler. -Sis WD8DIN

I am terribly sorry concerning AB. He is in God's hands now. His active life has come to an end and we all will miss his efforts of the past.... Morton WX4H

Hit and Bounce Slow Net Manager's Report
WD8DHC, Michael Fox, Manager
N3ON, Chuck Punzell, Ass't. Manager

Greetings from the very lovely Mountain State of West Virginia.

Well, folks, things are finally ironed out from my end of things for the HBSN as the net manager. However, I don't take credit for it. You folks who are participating as NCS are the ones that are doing an excellent job of getting the net reports to me and I appreciate it very much.

For the first time as net manager, I have all the March reports in at the first of the new month long before they are due.

My thanks especially to Paul, N2ULY, who probably has one of the most unusual schedules anyone can have because of being a fireman. My hat is off to you, my friend, for what I know is an excellent job in a most difficult work of firefighting and attempting to keep up with this net as well.

I also extend my congratulations and appreciation to all stations that consistently check into the HBSN and help me keep it going. I couldn't do it alone.

So keep up the good work just like you are doing. Here are a couple of reminders though:

As all of you know, we all have family emergencies which from time to time keep us off the air. On top of that, and with spring having arrived, we can also look forward to some storms from time to time which also keeps us off the air.

If there are times I'm not around for long periods of time, please, as soon as possible, send your traffic through the National Traffic System preferably through the CW Eastern Area Net.

If I must be gone for a month or more, as was the case a few years ago, I will attempt to let Sis or one of you know and then someone contact Chuck, N3ON, our Assistant Net Manager to assume my duties until I am able to return. This will help move the net along and to get information to Sis for the newsletter.

Again, my friends and fellow net members, I am proud of the work you are doing. Keep it up.

God bless and if the Lord wills, I'll see you on the air.

73, Michael D. Fox, WD8DHC/NM

CHAPTER 16 - PENN STATE AND COLLEGE
RADIO STATION ~ W8YA, PART THREE

On my second visit to W8YA, just a day or so later I found Prof. Gil Crossley and Jim Beaverthere. Jim was a mild-mannered but very assured Senior, the student manager of the station and Crossley's assistant. I liked him instantly.

Gil Crossley gave me a hearty greeting, said Walter Hawk had told him about me and if I lived up to my reputation I would be the best CW operator on the staff. This time I had brought my "bug" with me and, at his insistence, I gave him a demonstration.

Although not much of a CW operator himself, Gil seemed fascinated with those who were, and I certainly fulfilled that role. He was a man in his late thirties, slightly rotund, very hearty, very knowledgeable in electronics and highly devoted to the station, W8YA. The station was licensed to the college, with Crossley the faculty member in charge. I learned later that he was not a licensed amateur. The college had previously held an experimental license (W8XE), but this had been converted to a special amateur license provided for by the Federal Radio Commission, Department of Commerce, the predecessor of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). Such licenses were available to educational institutions and had "Y" calls. Later, when the FCC took over, this changed -- only individuals or duly constituted amateur radio clubs could receive amateur licenses. More about this later.

For some reason, perhaps solely because of my CW ability, Crossley took a liking to me and very early in my first semester broke precedent by giving me a key to the station, subject to certain restrictions. Walter Hawk, who became a good friend, broke me in on all aspects of the operation. So there I was, in the middle of my Freshman year, privileged to enter the station at any time and use its facilities.

For most of the eleven semesters I attended at Penn State, I remained on the Radio Station Staff. WPSC was never re-licensed; the old transmitter was a fixture in the operating room for many years, in fact I don't remember its ever being removed during my tenure, but as far as I know it was never put on the air again.

When the FCC took over from the FRC, it determined that amateur station licenses would no longer be issued to institutions, only to bona fide amateur radio clubs with one of its licensed members as the trustee and legally responsible for its operation. Under this development, it was naturally expected that Gil Crossley would obtain an amateur license and a Penn State Radio Club would be formed with Gil as station trustee, so that W8YA could continue in operation pretty much as before. But Gil remained steadfastly opposed to formation of a club, even (Perhaps especially) one sponsored by the college. He did however, manage to get an amateur operator's license and somehow managed to get assigned the call letters W8YA. Thus W8YA became his personal call and the station property, owned by the college, continued operation as before, with Gil as the faculty member in charge of the Radio Station Staff. This is how things remained during my tenure at Penn State, which ended in late summer of 1938.

Coming in Part Four, Geo relates more of Gil's prowess.

HAMS IN COMBAT -- SEE YOU IN TOKYO!

By Sgt. Joseph L. Coleman, K6TTY
 QST, January 1945

My last message had just been completed to W4PL in the early morning of December 7, 1941. Ben and I had our usual QSO and then said, "Coffee, here I come" that old familiar phrase which meant "Brother, that's all for tonight." Switching off the rig, spinning the band switch on the RME-99 to the broadcast band to hear some of the swing music from the States, I let out a healthy yawn and wheeled around to the mill to type out my traffic for Monday's mail. Like countless other hams, little did I realize that this would be my last night in the old ham shack. K6TTY -- K6TOP was now silent.

I was awakened by the "wumph" of exploding bombs. At first I thought that some unit was having practice on the artillery range. Thinking this rather strange for a Sunday morning, I nevertheless turned over and started to go back to sleep, cussing under my breath for being awakened so early. O'Connor, the supply sergeant who slept across the hall from my shack, came running into the room. "Joe, for heaven's sake, get up. Some damn fool is bombing Wheeler Field!" -- which was the airstrip adjacent to Schofield Barracks.

At this time several Japanese planes flew overhead, peeled off and started to strafe us. It was hard to believe at first that we were really going to be bombed and strafed. However it didn't take us long to gather what was taking place. Little time was lost in loading equipment and taking to the field to man our tactical positions. A few of our planes were in the air now and we could see several dogfights. As we neared Pearl Harbor we could see heavy oily black smoke rising to the sky. It looked like Hell had broken loose. At eleven hundred hours it was over.

Thanks to Coleman and QST - Ozzie

ARL FORTY SEVEN

“Greetings, I'm pleased to report that the ARRL's Programs and Service Committee, a committee of the ARRL Board of Directors, has authorized ARRL to add FORTY SEVEN to its list of ARRL Numbered Radiograms.

The definition of FORTY SEVEN is "Reference your message number ____ to ____ delivered on ____ at ____ UTC."

The list of ARRL Numbered Radiograms (including FORTY SEVEN) is found at this ARRL Web page in three different formats: HTML, Adobe PDF, and Word for Windows.
